Florida Gift Honors Harold L. Glasser

A Miss Universe crown, designed by the late Harold L. Glasser, is part of a collection donated to Florida Atlantic University Libraries in Boca Raton by Glasser's widow Marny (bottom, center). A World War II bombardier, Glasser became internationally known during his 37-year career as president of Miss Universe Inc. Mrs. Glasser has underwritten the costs to process, display, and digitize the items, all of which will be exhibited beginning in October to coincide with the 70th anniversary of the U.S. entering WWII. Joining Mrs. Glasser and a bust of her husband that she sculpted are: Patricia Kollander, FAU department of history, and William Miller, FAU dean of libraries.
