Historic Jewish music recordings at FAU library are available online

One-hundred-seventy cartons holding thousands of tapes and discs of cantorial, Hebrew and Yiddish music dating to the early 1900s are now the property of Florida Atlantic University Libraries.

The collection was donated to the school’s Judaica Sound Archives by the mother of the late Barry Serota.

It is being archived in pieces and available for the public to hear online at http://bit.ly/pmF15S.

— Lisa J. Hurlash