Christian Molineros checks out one of the high-tech calculators at Florida Atlantic University’s Wimberly Library in Boca Raton. After hearing student opinion about FAU libraries, the school remodeled study rooms and added borrowing privileges for MacBooks, calculators, pocket video cameras, e-book readers, and other electronics. Library Dean William Miller said the goal is to continue to build a state-of-the-art information technology environment and to enhance the physical environment.