Deadline for Jaffe Center’s Artist in Residence Program is June 15

BOCA RATON, Fla. (May 28, 2015) — The deadline for submitting proposals for the Arthur and Mata Jaffe Center for Book Arts’ Helen M. Salzberg Artist in Residence program at Florida Atlantic University’s Wimberly Library is June 15.

The semester-long program, established in 2011 at FAU’s Wimberly Library on the Boca Raton campus, has drawn interest from artists all over the country.

Artists anywhere in the world who are working in the book arts and other media, as long as the creative project can be considered book arts related, are encouraged to apply for this prestigious and competitive award. While at the Jaffe Center, the artist produces a creative project using the Jaffe Center’s studios, teaches a workshop for FAU students and the general public and mentors FAU students. The artwork of the program’s sponsor, Salzberg, an award-winning artist who lives in Connecticut and Florida, has been displayed in private and public collections.
