

The Writing on the Walls

Upper Portion of Walls in Study Rooms Painted with Dry Erase to Allow Writing, Doodling

If you are seeing more doodles and formulas on the study room walls in the Wimberly Library, relax and remember to try your skills the next time you are using one of our study rooms. Just don't forget to ask for the dry erase markers when you check out a study room.

When our study rooms were repainted during a summer renovation project, the upper two-thirds of the walls were painted with dry erase paint. When you have an urge to express yourself or make a point with your peers by scribbling on the walls, go for it. The study rooms were also furnished with wireless monitors, which were paid for by FAU student-tech fees.

Interested in one of our study rooms? Visit <http://www.library.fau.edu/depts/access/circdept.htm#study> to review FAU Libraries' policy on the use of use of the rooms. An Owl Card and at least two people are required to check out a small study room and three people are required to check out a large study room. Inquire at the service desk on the first floor of the Wimberly Library.
