Jaffe Center to Host Paula M. Gourley for Gallery Talk and Film Screening to Honor Florida Writer Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings

Florida Atlantic University’s Arthur and Mata Jaffe Center and Paula Marie Gourley, the Helen M. Salzberg Artist in Residence for spring 2013, will host a gallery talk, reception and film screening to honor the memory of Florida writer Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings on Saturday, May 4, at 1 p.m. at the Jaffe Center in the Wimberly Library, Boca Raton campus. The events are free and open to the public. Rawlings rose to prominence in 1939 after she was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for The Yearling, a poignant story of a young boy and his pet fawn that she wrote in 1938. This year marks the 75th anniversary of the book’s publication. Gourley, a book artist and educator, has taken photos of the farm and house near Gainesville where Rawlings wrote and lived for 25 years, and is making a limited edition, handcrafted book as part of her artist in residence project. After the gallery talk and reception there also will be a screening of Cross Creek, a film about the community where Rawlings lived, at 3 p.m. Visitors can park in the metered spaces at the library. This photography exhibition by Maria Mor Huertas, an FAU photography student, examines how shoes are not just a fashion statement, but archives for people’s personalities. Many of the 17 photographs in the exhibition were taken at FAU and feature the shoes of students, including those of the photographer, and faculty members. Each picture is accompanied by a card containing a title and a quote from the shoe owner.
