As they say in Yiddish, plus ca change, plus c'est la meme chose: “the more it changes, the more it stays the same.” Put a few Jews together and you’re sure to have a political argument! This lecture will describe the origins of the arguments your grandparents had (and translate a few of the punch lines into English), as well as treating the contemporary expressions of Jewish political movements today. Dr. Henry (Hillel) Abramson, Dean of Academic Affairs and Student Services at Touro College South in Miami Beach, has lectured throughout the world. He is the author of three books and has received numerous awards and international recognition for his research.
